MU DYNAMICS SCORES PRODUCT OF THE YEAR AWARD WINNER BY COMMUNICATIONS SOLUTIONS

Mu-4000 Joins Industry's Most Innovative Products that Facilitate Voice, Data and/or Video Communications

SUNNYVALE, CA – June 10, 2008 – Mu Dynamics, a pioneer in helping network operators and their vendors eliminate downtime through proactive service assurance, today announced the Mu-4000 Service Analyzer has been awarded a 2007 Communications Solutions Product of the Year Award. The Communications Solutions Product of the Year Awards recognizes the most innovative products that facilitate voice, data and video communications combined services.

“This prestigious award is bestowed to the most deserving companies that demonstrate the vision, leadership and attention to detail that are the hallmarks of the Product of the Year Awards,” according to TMC Editorial Director, Greg Galitzine. “The Product of the Year Award exemplifies the best this industry has to offer,” Galitzine said. “With hundreds of applications this year, the judging process was difficult but the selected winners have demonstrated a commitment to quality and the continued development of the communications industry. These winners deserve this distinction, and I look forward to seeing other innovative solutions from them as they continue to contribute to the future of the communications industry.”

“Mu Dynamics’ customers are the reason behind our Communications Solutions Product of the Year Award,” said Adam Stein, Mu Dynamics vice president of marketing. “Mu continues to help network operators and their vendors eliminate costly downtime or poor product quality. The product with its automated, unique approach for VoIP, IPTV and the IMS architecture is now the premiere choice for proactive service assurance with more than 100 deployments worldwide.”
